

Main duties:

- + Knowledge of the European R&D strategy in manufacturing and materials.
- + Develop actions to attract new R&D projects in public calls at regional, national and European levels.
- + Participate in the preparation of R&D proposals.
- + Participate in the business promotion linked to R&D, including commercial action with industrial companies.
- + Encourage collaboration with Universities, Technology Centers and Companies, nationally and internationally.
- + Active participation in European platforms related to manufacturing and materials.
- + Participation in the definition of exploitable results and exploitation routes.

Education:

- + Bachelor, Engineering or PhD in technical area.

Job specific skills:

- + Extensive knowledge and background in R&D activities.
- + Knowledge of the national H2020 Work Programs.
- + Experience in preparing R&D project proposals at both national and European levels.
- + Knowledge of the European R&D strategy (especially in manufacturing and materials).
- + Previous experience in collaboration and technological development with companies.
- + English level: C1 / C2.

Desirable qualifications and skills:

- + Great ability to communicate.
- + Ability to show results.
- + Business development skills.
- + Team management skills.
- + Ability to initiate and develop new ideas and initiatives in collaboration with external partners.

We offer:

- + Be part of a solid organization of recognized prestige, with more than 240 specialized professionals, in constant development and introduced in the main industrial sectors (Automotive, Aeronautics, Naval, Energy, Metalworking, or Environment).
- + Location: Pontevedra / Madrid / Brussels.
- + Immediate incorporation.
- + Retribution according to proven value.

Contact:

- + If you are interested, please fill the application form and attaching your C.V, (CV_Surname_First name.pdf) through our website: www.aimen.es

#aimenjobs